

Nicaragua is on the same time as Central Standard Time in the USA, however the country does not go on daylight savings and during this period the country is effectively on Mountain Standard Time.